

School Uniforms

This task is about looking at different points of view and developing an argument.

People have different opinions about whether or not school uniforms are a good idea. Write an argument that explores this issue. You will need to think from different points of view and support each with reasons. When you have looked at all sides of the issue, you may wish to express your own point of view when writing the conclusion. For help in writing an argument, ask your teacher for the checklist, Writing an argument - Learning intention guide. You may use the ideas in the speech bubbles to help you.

Published on <https://newzealandcurriculum.tahurangi.education.govt.nz>