Discrete or continuous IV

This task is about the difference between discrete and continuous data.

Data can be classified as either discrete or continuous.

a) The number of pieces in different jigsaws is an example of discrete data because ...

b) The distance students walk to school is an example of continuous data because ...