

Crawling ant problem

This task is about faces, edges and vertices of a 3-dimensional shape.

An ant crawls along the edges of this shape (it is a tetrahedron). The ant does not crawl along any edge twice.

- What is the greatest number of edges the ant can crawl along? _____
- Draw arrows on the shape to show the ant's journey.
- How many different vertices does this shape have? _____

Published on <https://newzealandcurriculum.tahurangi.education.govt.nz>