

Southern Cross

---

This task is about why stars may look different in the night sky.

Southern Cross a few months ago

Southern Cross now

When Karen looked out of her kitchen window for the Southern Cross, she was surprised to see that it was not in the same place as it was a few months ago at the same time of night.

Why wasn't the Southern Cross where she had seen it a few months ago?

Published on <https://newzealandcurriculum.tahurangi.education.govt.nz>