

Watching the stars from Wellington

This task is about how the stars appear in different parts of the sky.

These star maps show the positions of several stars and constellations as seen from Wellington at two different times of the year.

Explain why the stars appear in different parts of the night sky, depending on the time of year they are observed.

