

Dissolving sugar

This task is about what happens when something dissolves.

Joe and Jackie are making a cup of coffee for their mother's breakfast.

If you were able to see what was happening to all the bits of sugar when they went into the coffee, what do you think this would look like?

Draw a picture to show what you think happened to the sugar. Add labels to help other people understand your picture.

