

What do they have in common?

The rectangles in the diagram below show links between the circles. Colour in the rectangle if there is a true link between the circles. For example: Do mice have a backbone? Yes they do. This link is then true so the rectangle has been coloured in. Your task is to colour in all the other rectangles where there is a true link between the circles.

Published on Assessment Resource Banks (<https://arbs.nzcer.org.nz>)