Diverse Pacific learners

Kia orana. Fakaalofa lahi atu. Mālō e lelei. Tālofa lava. Talofa ni. Fakatalofa atu. Bula vinaka.

Pasifika is a collective term used to refer to people of Pacific heritage or ancestry who have migrated or been born here in Aotearoa New Zealand. Pasifika include recent migrants or first, second and subsequent generations of New Zealand-born Pasifika men, women and children of single or mixed heritages.

Pasifika Education Plan 2008-2012

These principles were developed from the Assessment Resource Banks (ARBs) Pasifika Steering Group recommendations to reflect the identities, languages and cultures of diverse Pacific learners.

Principle 1

Assessment tasks reflect the diversity of learners of Pacific heritage and ancestry.

Principle 2

While assessment resources acknowledge the diverse traditions of Pacific people, they should also reflect their interests, values and aspirations as participants in the contemporary world.

Principle 3

Assessment tasks provide opportunities for diverse Pacific learners to draw on the experiences and knowledge they bring to the learning environment.

Principle 4

Assessment tasks foster in diverse Pacific learners a culture of "I can learn", "I love learning" and "I can be successful".
